

MRS. BRADLEY EXPECTS TO BE ACQUITTED FOR HER BOY'S SAKE

In Her Cell at Washington She Awaits Trial With Supreme Confidence That She Will Soon Be Free.

Mark Bradley, aged 3, and (in the corner on right) Arthur Brown, aged 7.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The most pathetic moments in the cell of Mrs. Annie Bradley, whose trial begins next week for the murder of ex-Senator Brown, who deserted her to marry another, are when she writes beautiful letters to her boys—her boys and Brown's, but they do not hear their father's name.

Most of Mrs. Bradley's leisure is spent in writing the boys long letters full of admonition. Many times when writing these little sermons she bursts into tears and says to the sympathetic matron of the jail, "Oh, why does God give children to such as I. Poor innocents to come into the world blackened by such a stigma and shadowed by evil of both their parents. Yet I am so thankful for their love and their confidence in me."

All her hopes for the future are based on these little boys. "I cannot believe," said she, "that the Heavenly Father, so tender and gentle to little ones, will abandon my helpless little boys."

Mrs. Bradley is now confident of acquittal, and she thinks that her repentance of wrongdoing is so sincere that God will send her opportunity to atone to her children.

She is Religious.
She has a deeply religious nature, notwithstanding the guilt of the past. She is convinced that her regeneration and the eternal salvation of her children depends on her restoration to liberty and the opportunity thus

CHRISTMAS TOYS ARE COMING IN NOW

Stores Are Preparing For the Coming Rush of Holiday Trade.

Although very few people, aside from the sewing girls and the shop people have thought about Christmas as only seven or eight weeks away, and there is already plenty of evidence of that fact beginning to be noticeable in the stores.

The advance guard of Christmas toys and pretty things for gifts ordered by the merchants on summer trips east, are arriving in bales and boxes, and being unpacked and temporarily stored, a few of the most peculiar and extraordinary ones being shown in the windows.

Desultory shopping among the women has already begun and the buying of lace and silks for manufacture into pretty Christmas gifts has been going on for several weeks. In the jewelry stores, pretty novelties in neck chains, rings and other ornaments, calculated to delight the hearts of the feminine world on Christmas morning, are making their appearance, laid out on rich velvet to show their value.

It's In the Air.
The real evidence of the approach of Christmas, however, is the addition to the corps of clerks in the stores. Nearly every store in town has from one to half a dozen new clerks being broken in for the holiday trade and during the month of December there will be many who will work for a month at least.

The Christmas rush as yet is barely perceptible, but it will be a big one this year. The merchants are anticipating a tremendous trade during the holidays this year, and have bought an unusual stock of goods which will be their principal care for the next two months, getting them displayed to advantage. The sale of furs will be about the only thing that won't be boosted at present, furs being about as little needed here as they were in July, but seven weeks can bring lots of icy weather.

Thousands of Toys.
The toy shops have some new things that the children are going to scream over, and wear their little noses out pressing them against the show windows to admire these novelties. And Santa will be besieged with letters this fall, for there are so many things the youngsters are going to want.

And all the pretty things have not come yet, by any means, because from the east comes the report that several of the steamships which have arrived there from Europe during the past few days have been veritable Santa Claus ships. Their great holds have been filled with thousands of cases of toys sent over by the German and French manufacturers for the Christmas trade in America. Included in the cargoes have been whole crates full of mechanical toys, automobiles, engines, swings, musical tops and trumps, to say nothing of dolls sufficient in number and variety and attractiveness to satisfy the desires of thousands of little girls, and whole regiments of lead soldiers for the little boys. A large part of these toys are for the western trade. A month hence they will cover the counters of the great stores throughout the west and New Mexico will get its share.
